Weather Awareness

In many cases, severe weather events occur at night and most people are usually asleep when they develop. If you are a sound sleeper, you may not hear anything until it is too late. You should also never rely on outdoor warning sirens as a warning or to wake you. Instead, you should have a weather app on your phone or a weather radio.

WDAM's First Alert Weather app is free and can be downloaded at <http://goo.gl/3xfky> for Android devices and <http://goo.gl/1mSuu> for iPhones. WDAM's First Alert Weather App is easy to use. Just download it to your phone, open it up, go into the setting and turn on the weather alerts.

National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) weather radios are around $30 at most department and electronic stores. Weather radios are easy to program, too.

Both the weather apps and radio will provide a loud alarm to wake you up in the middle of the night if a dangerous weather situation arises.
